The Body under the Command of Prince Lobkowitz in Transylvania, of 20 Battallions, 12 Companies of Grenadiers, 21 Squadrons of Cuirassiers, 28 of Dragoons, and two Regiments of Hussars. In the grand Army under the Command of Marshal Wallis, there are actually 47 Squadrons of Horse, and 35 of Dragoons; the actual Number of the Foot has not been specified in the last Letters, it being only mentioned, that as there is more Occasion for Infantry than for Cavalry in the designed Operations of this Campaign, the Foot of the Grand Army will be more numerous in Proportion than the Cavalry. 'Tis advised from Buda, that the six Frigates lately built and manned here, passed by that Place the 10th on their Way to Belgrade. The Eagle, which carried the Flag as Admiral, saluted the Fortress of Buda, by firing a certain Number of Guns, so did the other Frigates, and were answered from the Fortress Gun for Gun. The Elector of Bavaria having notified to the Emperour by a Gentleman sent Express his Arrival at Moelck, his Imperial Majesty has dispatched to him Count Ferdinand de Lamberg to make his Compliments to their Electoral Highnesses, as also to the Duke and the three Princesses, on their Arrival in his Dominions. It is believed there will be an Interview in the Neighbourhood of Moelck between the Emperour and the Elector of Bavaria.
